Rehearing Denied; City to File Appeal

On January 25, the State of Michigan Court of Appeals denied a motion for rehearing that the City of Romulus filed last November in its ongoing litigation against Environmental Disposal Systems, Inc. (EDS). The original lawsuit, initiated in 1993 in the Wayne County Circuit Court, resulted in an injunction against the operation of an EDS hazardous-waste injection well on Wahrman Road; however, the Court of Appeals overturned that injunction last October.

Although the City had not, as of February 9, filed a motion for appeal to the State Supreme Court, an appeal will be made, said Mayor William M. Oakley.

EDS has already asked the Supreme Court to hear an appeal of the company's $100-million countersuit, which was dismissed by the Appeals Court in October.

February 22 Election Features Republican Presidential Primary, Charter Proposals

Romulus City Clerk Linda Choate and Elections Clerk Rendell Wooden would like to remind voters that the election set for Tuesday, February 22, will feature five City Charter-revision proposals as well as the Republican Presidential Primary ballot. Among those City officials who support the Charter revisions is Mayor William M. Oakley.

"Proposals 1 through 4 will update our City Charter by adjusting spending limits to coincide with the inflation that has occurred in the last 30 years. Proposal 5 is important because it asks suppliers to guarantee performance instead of just the availability of a product," Oakley wrote in a letter that was paid for by the Oakley for Mayor Committee and distributed to the City's absentee voters. "As an original drafter of the City of Romulus Charter, I am asking your support in passage of these important proposals. I know each will serve to help us in delivering the most responsive and efficient service possible to our residents."

Voters who wish to cast their ballot for Bill Bradley or Al Gore should do so in the March 11 Democratic Caucus, according to Mark Brewer, Chair of the Michigan Democratic Party.

"Because the Democratic Party will choose its presidential candidates based on the votes cast in the March 11 Democratic Caucus, Gore and Bradley will not appear on the February 22 primary ballot," said Brewer. "The only name on the Democratic portion of that ballot will be Lyndon LaRouche, who is not recognized as a Democrat by either the National or State Democratic Party."

The Michigan Democratic Party reminds all Democrats who plan to vote by mail to have their application at the Party's office by 5 p.m. on Friday, March 3. All ballots are due by 5 p.m. on Friday, March 10. A vote-by-mail application is available by stopping by or writing to the Party's office at 606 Townsend, Lansing, Michigan 48933; faxing the Party at 517-371-2056; e-mailing the Party at midemparty@aol.com; or downloading an application at the Party's Web site: www.mi-democrats.com.

A list of the presidential candidates whose names appear on the February 22 ballot, as well as a verbatim copy of the various Charter proposals, immediately follows.

State Surplus: How Should We Spend It?

By Representative Mike Hanley, House Democratic Leader

Ever wonder what you would do if you had a whole lot of extra money in your bank account? That's the situation in which we in State government find ourselves.

After a recent review by fiscal analysts and State budget experts, it was announced that the State will have a budget surplus of about $1.4 billion. As you might expect, the battle over how to spend this money is already in full swing, and I agree that there are plenty of opportunities and causes worthy of it. However, House Democrats strongly believe that there are two very significant issues which demand our attention: education and health care for Michigan's families. In the past, we have neglected our financial obligations to these areas. We must seize the opportunity to pay the bills we owe and invest in the future.

Specifically, we should take the $1-billion surplus in the school-aid fund and distribute it as follows.

- Spend $200 million to begin a State-wide reduction of class sizes to 17 students per classroom in grades kindergarten through three. Class-size reduction would be phased in, beginning with school districts and public-school academies where more than 50% of the students are considered "at risk."
- Pay $300 million owed by the State to local school districts for the cost of State-mandated special-education programs. These are costs that school districts have been forced to meet by cutting academic and athletic programs. They were the basis of two lawsuits – Durant and Durant II – in which courts ruled that the State had failed to meet its responsibilities to provide funding for special education.
- Invest $30 million to expand "school readiness" pre-kindergarten programs which help four-year-olds get a jump-start toward future success in school.
- Provide $25 million to allow every school district to hire a Parent Involvement Advocate to reach out and get parents more involved in their children's education.
- Provide $60 million to expand training for Michigan's teachers, improving their skills and reinforcing the ability to deliver quality education in the classroom.

We also support investing a $405-million surplus in the State's general fund for the following purposes.

- Reimburse $150 million owed by the State to community hospitals and other health providers, some of which have been forced to reduce services or close altogether. These dollars will be matched by Federal funds, bringing the total investment to at least $300 million.
- Invest $150 million in improving the quality of care in Michigan's nursing homes, in part by helping operators raise wages to keep quality staff, and improve in-home and community-based services for the elderly.
- Invest $50 million to double the State's commitment to prescription-drug assistance for senior citizens.

We are enjoying record prosperity; there is no doubt about that. But this is an opportunity we cannot afford to miss. By investing wisely in education and health care, we will keep our economy strong and make the future secure for our families.

Historical Notes

20th Anniversary for Historical Society

By Ken Krueger, Corresponding Secretary, Romulus Historical Society

The Romulus Historical Society was busy this past year with its many projects and events.

The Historical Society, which was founded in August of 1979, recently marked its twentieth anniversary. From its 20 charter members, the group has grown to a membership of more than 50 people.

This past August, an anniversary celebration was held in the Romulus Historic Park to commemorate this historic event. Many members and other townspeople turned out to help the Society celebrate. Attendees were entertained by the music of the Down Home Duo, and enjoyed the three historically decorated cakes and punch. Albums of old photographs and videos of past historical events were shown.

As part of our anniversary celebration, the Society has put together a cookbook filled with old-fashioned recipes and family histories. The cookbooks are now on sale for a cost of $5. Cookbooks may be purchased from the Society or at the Romulus Historical Museum (located on Hunt Street near the Post Office in downtown Romulus), which is open from 1 to 4 p.m. each Sunday.

The Museum was also open during the City's annual Christmas Tree Lighting Ceremony, which was held in Historic Park last December 3. Although the weather was balmy, the Museum was festively decorated for the winter holiday. A replica of a turn-of-the-century (1900) Christmas tree was displayed in the center of the Museum.

At our January meeting, the Society elected officers for the new millennium. They are: Judy Widman, President; Helen Hay, Vice-president; Gloria Chandler, Treasurer; Genevieve Dugan, Recording Secretary; and Ken Krueger, Corresponding Secretary.

The Romulus Historical Society would like to express its special thanks to Kathy Billings, CPA, and partner in the firm of Post, Smythe, Lutz and Ziel of Wayne, for her expertise and help in filing the Society's annual reports to the government. Her generosity is greatly appreciated.

At the Society's February meeting, Diane Walker will give a special presentation about the history of Willow Run. The meeting will be held at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, February 16, at the Romulus Public Library (located at 11121 South Wayne Road, at Goddard, next to City Hall). Potential members are welcome. □

RHS Alumni Association Reactivates; Seeks Old and New Members

The Romulus High School Alumni Association — originally established late in 1992 and increasingly active until the resignation of its first coordinator, Marge Bergman, last year — has been reactivated, according to Alumni Liaison Dick Kruse. Spearheading the reactivation are Chapter Co-chairs Alfaye (Dunbar) Woods (Class of 1969) and Donald Morris (Class of 1964), whose initial efforts will be focused on renewing memberships, seeking volunteers, and discussing future activities of the group. Former members will soon be receiving renewal forms in the mail; all other alumni are encouraged to participate, as well.

"The Alumni Association is a worthy organization," said Morris, who noted that a large portion of the group's membership dues ($10 per person/$15 per couple per year) is earmarked for scholarships for today's graduates who go on to continue their education.

"Last year, the Association was able to award over $3,000 in scholarships," he added.

Both Morris, who is also a City Councilman, and Woods, who is the wife of Romulus Board of Education Vice-president Michael Woods, are enthusiastic about the prospects of the Association. They concur that the group provides an important service by allowing graduates to keep in touch, formally recognize the accomplishments of their peers, and keep up with developments in their home town. Possible discussion topics include a Web site, e-mail addresses, newsletters, the Hall of Fame, Career Day, Homecoming, and reprinting the Alumni directory.

The Alumni Association's mailing address will be 36540 Grant Road, Romulus, Michigan 48174. Anyone who is interested in becoming a new member and/or volunteering for Alumni activities should contact Kruse at 734-941-1600, ext. 231. □

Museum Is Perfect Place To Celebrate Black History Month

A visit to the Charles H. Wright Museum of African American History to see its latest exhibit - Clear Story: The Stained Glass Art of Mr. Samuel Hodge - is a wonderful way to celebrate Black History Month in February. The new exhibition, which opened January 29 and will continue through April 23, showcases nearly 40 representations of African American history and culture captured in exhilaratingly colorful stained-glass folk art.

The term "clear story" refers to the section of a Gothic building above the buttresses which allows an unobstructed view of the stained-glass windows. As in the medieval church structures, where biblical stories are iridescently depicted in the stained-glass windows, Hodge's stained-glass creations narrate various scenes from African American culture and history.

A salient feature of Hodge's art is his three-dimensional approach in constructing his stained-glass windows, which can sometimes be displayed free-standing or hanging on a wall instead of in front of a light source. He also uses materials other than glass in his designs, integrating photographs, fabric, and beads.

Many of Hodge's works are a tribute to the accomplishments of African Americans in the fields of music, dance, sports, and civil rights. This exhibition is divided into four major categories: Musicians; Dance and Dancer, Message and Messenger; Sports All-stars; and Advocates for Freedom.

Hodge discovered his interest in art in 1958, when he was an electronics electrician in the Air Force and stationed in Okinawa. He wanted a case for his slide rule and decided to learn how to make one by taking a leather class. He found that he enjoyed and had a talent for the design process so he began making burlap and yarn tufted rugs. Hodge started working with stained glass in 1988 after one of his students overheard him admiring a "sun-catcher" and musing that he wished he could make one. The student later surprised him with a gift of tools and lessons. From there, Hodge developed his own techniques in working with stained glass.

Born in Cornwall, New York, Hodge served in the Air Force, then became a social worker, teacher, and school director. While teaching emotionally disturbed children, he used leather and rug crafting as a motivational learning tool. Later, he became an associate professor of sociology and psychology at Dutchess Community College in Poughkeepsie, New York, from which he retired after 25 years. Although officially "retired," Hodge has, in reality, just switched careers. Besides designing an ever-growing collection of works, he also exhibits around the Country and conducts classes in the art of stained glass. He and his wife, Dottie, also an artist, live in Spartanburg, South Carolina.

The Charles H. Wright Museum of African American History is located at 315 East Warren Avenue in Detroit's Cultural Center. Admission is $5 for adults and $3 for children ages five through seventeen; children under five are admitted free. The Museum is open Tuesday through Sunday from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Guided tours or workshops for school groups may be scheduled for school, church, or civic groups by calling the Museum's Tour Reservations Desk (313-494-5847). For more information, call 313-494-5800, ext. 0. □

Treat Your Sweetheart to a Healthy Valentine's Day Feast

By Florine Mark

Every 14th day of February, Cupid plays his role in the hearts of all of us as restaurants gear up for a long night, Hallmark stores become a montage of red and pink, and flower shops can't fill their orders fast enough.

It's almost Valentine's Day, and with the passing of the holiday season not so long ago and only a month-and-a-half of the New Year under our belts, there is once again a good reason to celebrate.

Since everyone else around town is planning a night out, why not avoid the crowds and make your Valentine's Day celebration a night in, whether it be with one special someone or a few good friends. I've come up with an enticing dinner menu that's not only guaranteed to be delicious, but is also low in fat, too! I've included a cheesy vegetable soup to warm you up, a pasta salad to satisfy all, lemon-broiled chicken with pilaf for the main course, and yummy dessert to finish everything off!

Cheesy Vegetable Soup

(makes 8 servings)

4 ounces wild rice
4 cups sliced, fresh, mixed vegetables (mushrooms, carrots, celery, etc.)
2 cups frozen, chopped broccoli (one 10-ounce package), thawed and drained
2 cups frozen cauliflower florets (one 10-ounce package), thawed and drained
4 packets low-sodium, instant chicken broth mix
4 cups skim milk
1½ ounces potato flakes
5½ ounces reduced-calorie American cheese, cut into strips
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
Imitation bacon bits (optional)

In medium saucepan, combine rice with two cups water; bring to a boil. Reduce heat, cover tightly, and cook until tender and water is absorbed, about 45 minutes.

Meanwhile, in a large saucepan, bring 2 cups water to a boil. Add vegetables; cover and cook over medium-high heat, stirring occasionally, until just tender, about 5 minutes.

Add cooked rice, broth mix, and milk; cook until heated through but not boiling. Stir in potato flakes, cheese, salt, and pepper.

To serve, ladle evenly into 8 soup bowls; sprinkle with bacon bits if desired.

Pasta Salad Provencal

(makes 2 servings)

2½ teaspoons olive oil
1½ teaspoons red wine vinegar
Dash pepper
1 cup cooked shell macaroni, chilled
½ cup sugar snap peas, blanched
2 ounces drained canned tuna (packed in water)
2 small plum tomatoes, cut lengthwise into wedges
2 tablespoons thinly sliced red onion
3 large black olives, pitted and sliced
1 tablespoon chopped fresh basil
1 tablespoon rinsed drained capers

Using a wire whisk, in a medium mixing bowl, beat together 1 tablespoon water, the oil, vinegar, and pepper. Add remaining ingredients and toss to coat. Cover; refrigerate until ready to serve.

Lemon-broiled Chicken

(makes 4 servings)

¼ cup fresh lemon juice
½ teaspoon dried thyme leaves
½ teaspoon dried rosemary leaves
½ teaspoon coarsely ground black pepper

Four 6-ounce chicken breasts

Preheat broiler. Spray rack in broiler pan with nonstick cooking spray.

In small bowl, combine lemon juice, thyme, rosemary, and pepper.

Carefully loosen skin of chicken. Rub half of the lemon mixture on chicken under skin; reserve remaining mixture. Place chicken skin-side-up on prepared broiler rack; broil 4" from heat, turning once, 10 minutes, until browned and cooked through.

To serve, remove and discard skin from the chicken breasts; place one breast on each of 4 plates. Drizzle each with an equal amount of reserved lemon mixture.

Thrifty Fund-raiser Benefits Romulus DARE Program

During a special luncheon held at Romulus Middle School on January 18, representatives of the Thrifty Car Rental company presented $250 donations to the Drug Abuse Resistance Education (DARE) programs of eight area law-enforcement agencies, including the Romulus Police Department.

According to Thrifty spokespersons, the company raised a total of $2,000 last November by donating fifty cents for each car rented at eight of its area dealerships (Dearborn, Grosse Pointe Woods, Novi, Plymouth, Romulus, Southfield, Sterling Heights, and Waterford). The money was then divided among the various police departments of those communities.

Making culinary arrangements for the DARE luncheon were several Romulus Middle School students under the supervision of leadership teacher Betty Santo.

Romulus officials who attended the luncheon were Mayor William Oakley, Police Chief Charles Kirby, Lieutenant James Rafalski, Sergeant Cora Semrau, and Officers Teresa Smagner and Rose Cooper.

Other attendees included Corporal Robert Bochenek and Sergeant Jeff Dombrowski of the Dearborn Police; Director Michael Makowski and Public Safety Officer Daniel Koerber of the Grosse Pointe Woods Police; Detective Tom Lindberg and Lieutenant Dave Butler of the Novi Police; Detective John Drake of the Plymouth Township Police; Lieutenant Gino Hliebav of the Sterling Heights Police; and Lieutenant Richard Crigger and Officer Robert Jackson of the Waterford Township Police.

Barth Elementary third-graders in the classrooms of Darlene Abela and Carol Gursky have been studying plant growth and development as part of their science lessons.

Students planted seeds, thinned and transplanted the resulting growth, measured their plants, pollinated their flowers, and observed their pods drying and making seeds.

The hands-on experience was enjoyed by all.

Charley Bishop, Holly Schonscheck, Spencer Winter, and Patricia Dancy also took part in the "plant growth" unit.

Disaster Strikes at Barth!

Mary Ann Watts and her fellow students just finished a "disasters" reading unit in their third-grade class at Barth Elementary School.

Third-grade students at Barth Elementary School have just completed a reading unit called "Disasters," according to teachers Darlene Abela and Carol Gursky.

In connection with one of the stories – "Pompeii . . . Buried Alive!" – students created mock volcanos at home, then brought them to school to give demonstrations on the eruption of a volcano.

"When I poured vinegar into the mixture in my volcano's crater, lava came pouring out," said Samantha Kreutzer, one of Gursky's students.

Afterward, the volcanos were put on display in the media center at the school.

Students also used their technology skills to illustrate a volcano's eruption on their computers.

"The project was a real hit with both the students and their parents," said Gursky.

"Many parents came to school to see the volcanos erupt," Abela added.

Third-grader Brandyn Martin performs a demonstration on the eruption of a volcano.

NOTICE OF INFORMAL HEARING HAZARDOUS WASTE SITE REVIEW BOARD

Michigan's Hazardous Waste Site Review Board (SRB) hereby gives notice that an informal hearing will be held on Thursday, February 24, 2000, to evaluate the proposed Environmental Disposal Systems, Inc. (EDS) hazardous waste management facility.

EDS submitted an application to the Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) for a permit to construct a hazardous waste storage and treatment facility at 28470 Citrin Drive in Romulus, Michigan. The application was submitted to satisfy the requirements under Part 111, Hazardous Waste Management, of the Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Act, 1994 PA 451, as amended (Act 451).

The proposed facility would accept liquid hazardous waste from off-site generators for disposal in deep injection wells. Prior to disposal in the deep injection wells, the wastes would be stored in tanks and containers and treated in tanks. The site for the proposed facility is approximately 15 acres in size and is shown on the map below:

The Part 111 of Act 451 construction permit application is for the storage and treatment of hazardous wastes prior to disposal in the deep injection wells. The deep injection wells have already been permitted under the federal Underground Injection Control Program and under Part 625, Mineral Wells, of Act 451; they are not subject to the Part 111 of Act 451 construction permit requirements.

The DEQ completed its review of the application and referred it to the SRB for consideration in August 1999. The SRB must evaluate the potential impact that the proposed facility could have on the environment and on the local community. After completing its review, the SRB must recommend whether the DEQ should issue or deny the construction permit.

The SRB held a public hearing to receive comments on the proposal, and it is now evaluating those comments and the proposal at a series of informal hearings. The SRB will discuss the proposal during the informal hearings, and will call upon local officials, EDS, the DEQ, and others for additional testimony on disputed issues. In addition, the SRB may devote a limited portion of each informal hearing to public comments.

The informal hearing will be held at the Romulus High School Auditorium, 9650 South Wayne Road, Romulus, Michigan, from 7:00 p.m. to 10:00 p.m. Persons with disabilities needing accommodations for effective participation in this hearing should contact Mr. Steve Sliver at the address below, or at 517-373-1976, at least a week in advance of the hearing to request mobility, visual, hearing, or other assistance.

The application may be reviewed at the Romulus Public Library located at 11121 Wayne Road, Romulus, Michigan; at the DEQ's Southeast Michigan District Office located at 38980 Seven Mile Road, Livonia, Michigan (contact Ms. Bonnie Pawloske at 734-953-1408); and at the DEQ's Waste Management Division Office located on the First Floor of the John A. Hannah Building, 608 West Allegan Street, Lansing, Michigan (contact Mr. Steve Sliver at 517-373-1976).

Requests, comments, and questions regarding the application and review process should be addressed to Mr. Steve Sliver, Waste Management Division, Department of Environmental Quality, P.O. Box 30241, Lansing, Michigan 48909-7741.
